FLY ANGLER

Brightwater Protectant Instructions

Brightwater's Dry Fly Protectant can be used to conveniently waterproof your dry flies, woven leaders or for pre-treating tying materials.

Simply soak your flies, bass bugs or tying material you wish to waterproof thoroughly with protectant and let air dry. The convenient wide mouth jar allows you to dip your fly or materials.

Our protectant is water clear and leaves an imperceptible silicone waterproofing film. Color properties of most dyed materials will not be negatively affected.
